The Police Force is also a part of the institutional system for the protection of human rights and freedoms, and it is precisely its tasks and service activities in specific defined areas that are the subject of research by the authors and the knowledge gained is presented in the presented monograph. According to the criteria of the Scientific Council of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava in Bratislava, determining the segmentation of outputs, this is a scientific work, which the author allowed herself to classify in category A.

Acknowledging the proper importance of the process of evaluating individual elements as rights representing a prerequisite for correct assessment and subsequently determining the best interest of the child, he devotes special attention to their analysis in the contribution. With the aim of their real materialization, they are illustrated on specific cases, decisions of the European Court of Human Rights. It pays special attention to the confrontation of conflicting interests in the process of applying Article 3 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child. In conclusion, the author formulates several considerations about the person of the judge called to decide in the best interest of the child. It also does not neglect the importance of a (although not legally binding) doctrinal interpretive approach, accepting the scientific knowledge of valid law, provided by representatives of legal science, whose reflections also extend to considerations of the influence of morality and justice acting alongside law as other regulations of social behavior. According to the criteria of the Scientific Council of Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava, which

In: Notitiae iudiciales Academie collegii aedilium in Bratislava [print]. - ISSN 2453-6954. - Vol. 10, n. 1 (2024), p. 3-27. [MARKO, Vladislav (50%) - RUBISOVÁ, Ivana (50%)] The aim of the scientific study is to clarify the theoretical and legal foundations of the application and interpretation of law, determining the possibilities of building legal certainty in the decision-making activities of courts. When assessing the "pitfalls" of the interpretative level of law, it is correct to admit the overlap of problems of interpretation of law into the normative level, therefore the study also includes the authors' reflections on the stage of law creation, the quality of which, reflected in the content and form of the legal norm, also conditions access to justice. The relevance of the question of the quality of current lawmaking is also justified by the hypertrophy of legal norms, while the authors base their reflections on the quality of the lawmaking process on the principle of Roman law "Pessima tempora, plurimae leges". The authors also reflect in this regard the unmissable phenomenon of judicial lawmaking, when they clarify the approaches of several representatives of legal science to viewing its opportunities and risks, pointing out its necessity in cases of the absence of legal regulation, following the necessity of prohibiting the denial of justice. According to the criteria of the Scientific Board of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava stipulating the classification of outputs, the author allowed herself to classify the output in the B category.
