1.	AAA STIERANKA, Jozef - VAŠKO, Adrián Crime detection [print] : (new strategy and approaches) / author Jozef Stieranka, author Adrián Vaško, reviewed by Jaroslav Ivor, reviewed by Viktor Porada, reviewed by David Zámek. – 1st edition. - Praha : Published by Nakladatelství Leges, 2021. - 270 pp. - ISBN 978-80-7502-512-8. Sign.: F 20550 [STIERANKA, Jozef (55%) - VAŠKO, Adrián (45%)] In the scientific monograph in question, the author outlines the theoretical and methodological aspects of the detection of crime as a specific cognitive operational-cognition activity. Building on the results of empirical knowledge in addressing the scientific research role following the recommendations of the European Union bodies, the author proposes a new strategy and approaches to the detection of crimes, consisting of a proactive approach to the recognition of latent crime. The uniqueness of this output lies in the fact that the innovative detection strategy thus formulated has not yet been published in the Slovak Republic or in the Czech Republic. According to the criteria of the Scientific Board of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava stipulating the classification of outputs, it is a scientific monograph which has an objective significance in several States not only in the same region, therefore, the authors allowed themselves to classify the output in category A+.
2.	AAA STIERANKA, Jozef - DWORZECKI, Jacek Predchádzanie, zamedzovanie a odhaľovanie daňových únikov a daňovej trestnej činnosti v Poľsku a na Slovensku / Prevention, containment and detection of tax evasion and tax crimes in Poland and Slovakia / author Jozef Stieranka, author Jacek Dworzecki, reviewed by Jozef Králik, reviewed by Jaroslav Holomek, reviewed by Emil W. The knowledge presented in the scientific study is based on the conclusions of the scientific research task "Developing new methods for seizing the proceeds of crime and combating money laundering" (VD 20072010819) addressed to the Police Academy of the Czech Republic. The study presented briefly deals with the criminal characteristics of money laundering and the specificities of the evidence and investigation of this crime. It focuses in particular on the criminalist features of money laundering, on evidentiary situations, on the particularities of the subject matter of the investigation and on the typical criminalist traces of this crime. The scientific study was published in a magazine registered in the WoS. According to the criteria of the Scientific Council of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava stipulating the classification of outputs, an output is classified in category A+.

In: Pravo [print] : Zhurnal Vysšey shkoly ekonomiki : Journal of the Higher School of Economics. - ISSN 2072-8166. - No. 4 (2018), pp. 313-331. - WOS. [STIERANKA, Jozef (100%)] The contribution consists of the two essential parts. The first part of the contribution describes the content, theoretical and methodological starting points for detecting illicit assets. The basic features and characteristics of detection are defined in detail as criminal security activities. The process of detecting criminal offences and detecting assets derived from illegal activities takes place in an information cycle where basic activities such as the acquisition of an indicator, the collection and acquisition of additional knowledge, the evaluation of information, the analysis of information and the establishment of logical conclusions are carried out. The second part of the contribution is analysed by Act No 101/2010 on proof of the origin of assets, which entered into force in the Slovak Republic on 1 January 2011 and points to the basic principles with a view to possible inspiration from it in other countries. The scientific study was published in a magazine registered in the WoS. According to the criteria of the Scientific Council of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava stipulating the classification of outputs, an output is classified in category A+.

In: Connections [print, electronic document] : the quarterly journal : english edition. - ISSN 1812-1098. - ISSN 1812-2973. - Vol. 18, No. 3 (2019), pp. 87-103. [STIERANKA, Jozef (50%) - BINDEROVÁ, Martina (50%)] The scientific study outlines the transformation process of state security in the Slovak Republic, which involved political, economic and social changes, including changes in the field of security forces. The aim of the changes in the security forces was to establish new security forces, including intelligence, which would operate on diametrically different bases than state security. In terms of time, the study is divided into two

	periods, namely the period before the 'Velvet Revolution' (until November 1989) and the transformation of the security forces (from November 1989 to the end of 1992). The second part of the study captures the second period, which describes the process of transformation of state security in the territory of the Slovak Republic, including the gradual origin of the necessary legislative changes, as well as the staffing of new intelligence elements. The scientific study was published in a magazine indexed in the databases of EBSCO, Cialo, USA. According to the criteria of the Scientific Council of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava stipulating the classification of outputs, it is a copyright output which has an objective meaning in several States not only in the same region, and therefore, the authors allowed themselves to classify the output in category A+.

Doi: 10.2478/danb-2020-0010 [STIERANKA, Jozef (50%) - VAŠKO, Adrián (50%)] The scientific study presents the results of the first phase of the solution to the scientific research task of VYSK. No 231 entitled "National Criminal Intelligence Model in the Slovak Republic". The first part of the scientific study, in abbreviated form, approximates the methodological approaches and the basis for addressing this scientific research task, formulates the fundamental scientific problem, the object and subject of the research, the objective and tasks of the research as well as the research methods. In other parts of the contribution, it analyses the theoretical, legal and practical background to building a new criminal intelligence model in the Slovak Republic. The contribution contains, in its various sections, "preliminary" conclusions and suggestions for a possible legal solution for the introduction of a new concept of criminal intelligence in the Slovak Republic. The research was carried out in connection with globalisation processes and the Slovak Republic's accession to the European Community. In particular, the modus operandi of tax evasion (intentional conduct, neglect of obligations) was analysed as well as an analysis of the relevant legislation on penalising tax crime in the Slovak Republic and in the Republic of Poland (legal standards, international recommendations). A descriptor of tax evasion, state of play, most common forms, developments and international contexts has also been carried out to address the research challenge. The sub-objectives are the development of a methodology (reflection on suitability and usability) of criminal intelligence and the processing of monographs and teaching texts in the different fields studied (criminal intelligence in general, operational intelligence, intelligence and analytics). Criminal intelligence, as a form of information security for the prediction process, preventing, detecting and clarifying in particular latent security threats, can be one of the important tools of state authority in this activity. The most significant outputs: [ABC] STIERANKA, Jozef - POKORNÝ, Ladislav Kriminální zpravodajství / Criminal Intelligence / author Jozef Stieranka, author Ladislav Pokorný. The research was carried out in connection with globalisation processes and the Slovak Republic's accession to the European Community. In particular, the modus operandi of tax evasion (intentional conduct, neglect of obligations) was analysed as well as an analysis of the relevant legislation on penalising tax crime in the Slovak Republic and in the Republic of Poland (legal standards, international recommendations). A descriptor of tax evasion, state of play, most common forms, developments and international contexts has also been carried out to address the research challenge. Based on the data collected, measures were recommended to make the detection of tax evasion and tax crimes more effective. The most significant outputs: AAA STIERANKA, Jozef - DWORZECKI, Jacek Predchádzanie, zamedzovanie a odhaľovanie daňových únikov a daňovej trestnej činnosti v Poľsku a na Slovensku / Prevention, prevention and detection of tax evasion and tax crime in Poland and Slovakia / author Jozef Stieranka, author Jacek Dworzecki, reviewed by Jozef Králik, reviewed by Jaroslav Holomek, reviewed by Emil W.
