| | Sign.: F 20411, SF 1948, E-Book 118 [RUBISOVÁ, Ivana (100%)] The author analyses the activities of members of the Police Force in applying the procedural guarantees granted to a child in the position of a witness specified in the Criminal Procedure Code, the Victims Act, and the Police Force Act. It includes an analysis of the peculiarities of the preparation and tactics of questioning a person under the age of 18. The author also points out the importance of the specific position of the child in the position of a witness, pointing to the extensive calculation of key documents of transnational importance guaranteeing the protection of children's procedural guarantees. In conclusion, the author deals with the project of special interrogation rooms as a current tool for the actual application of a special approach to the interrogation of a child aimed at eliminating the possibility of her/his secondary victimization. According to the criteria of the Scientific Board of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava stipulating the classification of outputs, the author allowed herself to classify the output in the B category. |

| | [RUBISOVÁ, Ivana (100%)] In this article, the author focuses on the best interests of the child as one of the current principles of exercising children's rights, reflecting the fundamental differences in their legal status from the times of the Oriental states, Greek polis and ancient Rome. The author analyses the relevant sources of the period to point out the rights of children in antiquity, when the best interests of the child were not perceived as a value criterion regarding the generally valid initially absolute nature of paternal power. Nevertheless, the historical analysis of contemporary sources is also evidence of the first efforts to consider the best interests of the child in various areas, especially in inheritance law. According to the criteria of the Scientific Board of the Academy of the Police Force in Bratislava stipulating the classification of outputs, the author allowed herself to classify the output in the B category. |
