This principle has been analysed from three perspectives: constitutional law, administrative law and criminal law. We focus on setting the boundaries and establishing a level of legitimacy of a police officer's intervention into fundamental rights and freedoms of a person against whom an intervention has been done. The results obtained through critical legal analysis of relevant legislative and internal acts, decisions by public authorities, scholarly and professional literature will bring in highly qualified conclusions and instructions for the application practice. They will precisely define how to realize a service action so that it is in line with the law and thus basic postulates of a democratic state and rule of law are met. A partial application output will be the implementation of a training session "Police Proficiency Week" for police officers and the creation of an information module through the intranet site of the Ministry of Interior of the Slovak Republic, which will be continuously available to police officers. The most significant outputs: V1 2 MARCZYOVÁ, Klaudia - ŠIMONOVÁ, Jana - MARKOVÁ, Veronika Police-legal aspects of official interventions [print] / aut. 2.	"Detection of tax evasion and tax crime", responsible for the sub-task, international, VÝSK 229/2016 The aim of the international research was to propose a set of rational solutions to increase the effectiveness of detection and, secondarily, punishment of tax crime, based on interdisciplinary conclusions presenting the views of the individual researchers. In the conditions of the growing negative phenomenon in the context of the European Union, as well as the abuse of tax havens, there is a social need for the security forces, i.e. investigators and criminal police, tax and customs authorities, to be ready to respond to the changes that have occurred in several countries, i.e. not only in the Slovak Republic. The anticipated contribution was the definition of basic characteristics of the behaviour of tax subjects, which can serve as indicators in the detection of latent tax crime. By synthesizing the partial results of the research, we formulated clear recommendations or procedures for detecting tax evasion and proposals for their application in practice, which were incorporated into the action plan for combating tax evasion and legislation. The output was also a methodological aid for the detection of tax crime. The most significant output and citation: AAB 3 STIERANKA, Jozef - SABAYOVÁ, Mária - ŠIMONOVÁ, Jana Tax evasion and tax crime in the Slovak Republic / aut.
